

Scott Savage

Experienced Law Enforcement Expert and Founder/CEO of the Savage Training Group

Scott Savage served as a law enforcement officer in the San Francisco Bay Area from 1999 – 2023. As an officer and then as a sergeant, Scott has developed subject matter expertise in police operations. His previous assignments include SWAT, full time assignment to a terrorism/intelligence task force, team leader on a crisis negotiation team, field training officer, academy instructor, field supervisor and incident commander.

He is the CEO and founder of the Savage Training Group, an organization made up of expert instructors who provide advanced training to law enforcement officers.

Scott's passion is training law enforcement officers. His primary area of focus is the way the police respond to critical incidents and crisis situations. He has authored special training courses that teach officers and supervisors how to make decisions in a crisis. Scott is a contributor to publications including The National Tactical Officer's Tactical Edge magazine and the American Police Beat magazine. He has been a guest speaker at conferences including those from the Force Science Institute and National Tactical Officers Association. He has been featured on several podcasts including the Iron Sights Podcast, Law Enforcement Today, and Shots Fired Podcast.

Speaking Topics:

The Law Enforcement
Response to Critical
Incidents and Crisis
Situations

Police Tactics

The Response to the
Mentally Ill in Crisis

Law Enforcement Training

"A world leader in law enforcement training, Scott continuously strives to change the shape of our industry for the better."

— Adam Kinakin, Founder of the International Law Enforcement Training Network

"Scott has a perfect blend of subject mastery and ability to relate the material to the audience."

— Liam Duggan, Chief of Prior Lake Police Department (MN)

For more information, email info@savagetraininggroup.com