Mutual aid assistance from outside agencies can be a blessing or a curse depending on your ability to coordinate those resources. Join us on January 19th to learn the tools you need to manage a multi-jurisdictional incident.

Seventy-three percent of law enforcement agencies have fewer than fifty officers. That means that when a large-scale incident occurs in your jurisdiction, there's a good chance that you'll be working with mutual aid units from neighboring jurisdictions. Are you ready to manage the chaos?

Register today and learn:

- ✔ Learn the details of a recent California incident which has never been publicly shared before
- ✔ Learn how to fix the top problems at multi-jurisdictional incidents including the real issues faced by small and medium sized agencies
- ✔ Learn how to identify priorities and roles and specific incident leadership techniques

Facilitated by Savage Training Group Senior Instructor Dan Flippo

Dan recently retired as the Deputy Chief of the Santa Cruz Police Department (CA). Dan has 29 years of experience in operational roles including SWAT and Patrol. Dan is also currently an instructor with the National Tactical Officers Association. Dan understands your perspective no matter how big or small your agency is. He is an enthusiastic instructor who is committed to making sure you know to manage any multi-jurisdictional incident.
